

Sun Moon Lake is located in Nantou City, Taiwan, and it is the largest naturally-occurring body in Taiwan. Its name came from the east side of the lake resembles a sun, and the west side resembles a moon.

